MONTH 2

The second month is dedicated to applying your knowledge in live markets, emphasizing risk management, quality trading, and trading psychology. Join interactive sessions during market hours to enhance your skills and build confidence to trade independently

MONTH 3

In the third month of our program, the schedule, market focus, and trading style mirror those of Month 2. This module is designed for the students to refine their strategies, correct any mistakes, and enhance their trading system based on real-world exposure and the lessons learned during their independent trading experience.

FINE-TUNING YOUR TRADING SYSTEM

By the time students reach the third month, they are active traders with hands-on experience. This phase focuses on refining their trading systems, addressing any remaining doubts, and enhancing the overall strategy to improve accuracy and efficiency.

MARKET DIVERSIFICATION

While Month 2 may have focused on a single market, the third month encourages students to expand their strategies across different markets. With increased experience, they can confidently apply the same principles to diversify their trading portfolios and explore new opportunities.

The schedule for the 3rd month will be the same as that of the 2nd month, but there is flexibility to take it any time after the 2-month course

This month is designed to fine-tune your trading skills, guiding you towards becoming a consistent profitable trader.

IMPROVED MARKET PSYCHOLOGY

By the third month, students have encountered various market conditions, from bullish to bearish and sideways trends. This exposure builds psychological resilience, equipping them with the confidence to navigate any market scenario with composure and clarity.

TRADING WITH HIGHER CAPITAL

With better market understanding and increased confidence, the third month also prepares students to trade with larger capital. This phase ensures they are ready to handle more significant investments, making calculated decisions with greater confidence and precision.
